The Father McKenna Center has evolved into an agency serving annually (FY\'10) 29,925 men, women and children in the North Capitol area, historically among D.C.\'s poorest areas. Meals The Father McKenna Center drop-in center provides breakfast and lunch to homeless men Monday - Friday. In fiscal year 2011, the Father McKenna Center served noon meals to 12,430 men. In order to eat lunch here, men are required to attend our 11 AM support group meetings. Our noon meal is a substantial meal prepared by our chef. In many cases

Bread for the City
Last year, staff and volunteers provided groceries to thousands of hungry people, feeding an average of 8,409 people each month. We distribute grocery bags consisting of a three-day supply of food adjusted to household size. Eligible clients are residents of the District of Columbia, have incomes of 200% or less of the federal poverty line, and are either elderly, disabled, or families with dependent children. Eligible clients may receive three days worth of food each month, picking up at either center.
